Rationale: Change Department Name

The College of Education went through a substantive reorganization in 1994. As part of the reorganization process Educational Leadership, Sport Management, Higher Education, Kinesiology (including Movement Studies, Health Fitness, Athletic Training), Educational Psychology and Counseling Psychology were merged to create the Department of Educational Leadership and Counseling Psychology. The department name has never fully reflected the programs in the department. The new name – Department of Educational Leadership, Sport Studies and Educational/Counseling Psychology – more fully describes the programs in the department. It is particularly important to have a descriptive department name as our programs grow and evolve.
