The Survey Design Clinic provides you with the opportunity to sit down with one of our survey design consultants and learn about the principles of survey design.

We are a free consultation service available to any WSU student, faculty and staff member interested in receiving professional feedback on survey design.

Contact us via Zoom during the development of your next survey to receive guidelines on visual design, sampling, question development, and mixed-mode implementation using the Tailored Design Method, developed at the Social and Economic Sciences Research Center by Don A. Dillman!
